Please read the attached article In a Class of Their Own (Nock, J (2016), SEN Magazine). The article can also be accessed here:

Questions for reflection

Continue to reflect on yesterday's questions and any other ideas that have emerged from today's reading.

Covid-19 relevance 'SLT immediately began to operationalise their emerging strategic plan, starting by identifying current strengths, areas for development and putting in place necessary interventions and support for staff.' Do you have an emerging strategic plan for getting back to school? If yes, is your plan or policy constructed and scaffolded on attachment- and trauma-informed principles? If you have not yet started to develop a plan, today would be a very good day to start!

Have a good day, keep safe and healthy and ring or email me to chat if that would help. Jenny x
